

NBA Greatest Player of All Time Debate!!

You will draw a player that you will then do research on to compete in a classroom debate to determine the greatest NBA player of all-time. This is over the course of history, so it is not just one player, one year: it is the total career!

Your task will be to create a visual presentation on your player (3 – 5 minutes). I will let you choose whatever visual application you would like to use. You should consider the things that your player has accomplished. You should consider making as strong of a case as you can as to WHY your player is the best NBA player of all-time. Consider WHAT makes a player the best! (Titles, records, individual awards, hall of famer).

Creativity should be considered as well. Make your visual look professional and EXCITING! But, the content will determine your player's success. After the presentations we will then also have a round table debate about your players.

Voting will occur after the round table from the individual members, and we will then have the winners of each pool go against each other.

One other thing: you may consider digging up dirt on the other players you will go against! But if you do that, you MUST cite the source.

You will have 2 days to research, and then we will present!
