Course Information:

This is a two-semester course that will take an in depth look at American History from pre-Columbian exploration up to 1900. After taking this class students will have acquired factual knowledge to be able to deal critically with the issues that the United States has dealt with throughout its history. Students will also be able to analyze historical materials and write essays through informed judgment and evidence where they are able to develop conclusions.

Method of Instruction:

A variety of instruction methods will be used including lecture, discussion (active learning), debates, text readings, quizzes, exams, and group/individual projects and activities. Current events will also be a part of the class and will be conducted every other Friday. Your current event will be related to class material only! No sports or entertainment! Exams will take place at the end of every unit, which will be about every 5-6 weeks. Quizzes will take place about every 1-2 weeks and will often be done at the end of every chapter and/or section.

Tentative Course Topics/Units and Dates:

The World by 1500	6 weeks
Creating a Nation	8 weeks
Growth and Change	6 weeks
War and Reunification	10 weeks
Nation Transformed	6 weeks

- Weighing of Course Components
 - Notebook
 - You are required to keep a notebook for this class. We will take notes regularly. You will turn in these notebooks for points. There will also be a variety of activities that will go in your notebooks. Due dates will be announced. We will be using an app on your iPad's to accomplish this task.
 - Quizzes/Exams
 - Quizzes will be given periodically throughout a unit, they may be announced or unannounced so make sure you are keeping up with the class work. Exams will be given at the end of every unit. They will be announced at least a week ahead of time. Test dates are set in stone regardless of what happens.

- Projects/Activities
 - There will be a variety of group and independent projects throughout the semester. The topics and requirements will be given for each project.

Course Component Specifics:

- Homework
 - There will be reading assignments, as well as additional homework assignments given in class. Homework assignments are due at the beginning of class on the due date. Most homework assignments will be signed by the instructor to indicate they were finished on time. Late homework does not receive a signature. Most homework assignments will go in your notebook.
- Academic Dishonesty
 - Any student caught cheating or plagiarizing on a class assignment will receive a zero on that assignment. If you are suspected of cheating/plagiarism you will receive an F on the project until it is determined whether the student has erred.
- Due Dates
 - Each assignment will be given a due date based upon its difficulty. Assignments are due at the beginning of class on the day that they are due. Late assignments will be accepted within 24 hours of the due date. The instructor reserves the right to reduce the grade on a late assignment by as much as 50%. If you have an excused absence on the due date of an assignment you will have two days after you return to make up your work. Students will be notified of due dates in class. If you are gone for a school activity it will be due before you leave.
